OUTLINES.

Yesterday 158 fourth-class postmasters were appointed. —— The Senate disposed of the lumber paragraph and reached the sugar schedule of the Tariff bill; proceedings in the House were unimportant. —— W. J. Calhoun, the special commissioner sent to Cuba to investigate the circumstances of the death of Dr. Ruiz, an American citizen, arrived at New York on his way to Washington. —— In the United States Court at Jacksonville, Fla., the libel for forfeiture of the steamer Three Friends was dismissed. —— Ex-Mayor John Tyler Cooper, of Atlanta, Ga., has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment and $500 fine for embezzlement. —— Snow fell yesterday at Orange, N. J. —— The Master Car Builders' Association of the United States will meet to-day at Old Point Comfort, Va. —— A meeting of silver Republicans will be held to-day in Chicago to decide upon a plan for national organization. —— Wilcox & White Organ Company, of Meriden, Conn., has made an assignment. —— A cloudburst in the department of Isere, France, caused great destruction of property. —— The Standard oil works of Cleveland, O., have shut down for an indefinite period. —— Earthquakes Sunday in Mexico and on the isthmus of Tehauntepec did some damage. —— At Macon, Ga., Thomas White was struck by lightning and instantly killed. —— Charles Barber, a patent attorney, Washington, D. C., shot Miss Squires as she was on her way to the office where she was employed, and then killed himself. —— New York markets: Money on call was easy at 1¼@1½ per cent., last loan at 1¼ and closed offered at 1 per cent.; cotton steady—middling 7 11-16c; flour firm; wheat—spot firm, corn—spot firm, No. 2 29¼c at elevator and 30¼c afloat; rosin steady—strained common to good $1.70@1.75; spirits turpentine steady at 27@27½c.

Sold For $16,000.

The sale of the phosphate lands of the North Carolina Phosphate Company was made yesterday at noon, at the court house door. Commissioners C. M. Busbee and S. F. Mordecai, Mr. J. R. Smith, Superintendent of the State Penitentiary, were present. Justice J. M. McGowan did the auctioneering.

The property went to Mr. W. H. Chadbourn, as Director of the Penitentiary, his bid being $16,000 in trust for that institution.

Magistrate's Court.

Andrew Sellers, the young white boy arrested Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Flynn on the charge of rape, was arraigned for trial yesterday morning at 10 o'clock before Justice Bunting, but was discharged, the evidence not being sufficient to justify his being held for trial at a higher court. P. B. Manning, Esq., appeared for the defendant. Sellers was charged with committing a criminal assault upon the six-year old daughter of Mr. C. J. Reaves.

LOCAL DOTS.

Items of Interest Gathered Here and There and Briefly Noted.

— The steamer Driver resumes her regular trips to-day.

— Deputy Sheriff Guyon, colored, last night arrested a white man, charged with embezzlement.

— Prof. Carraway, the hypnotist, will open a week's engagement at the Opera House Monday night.

— Joe Tyndall, a white youth about 15 years old, had one of his arms badly crushed yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock at the cotton mills. Tyndall, at the time of the accident, was ascending in the elevator, and carelessly placed his arm on the outside, and it was caught between the elevator and the ceiling and painfully injured.

Farewell Sermon of Rev. B. E. Wallace.

Immanuel Presbyterian church was crowded on Sunday night last with members of the church and others to hear the farewell sermon of Rev. B. E. Wallace. All the seats were taken and there were people outside who remained standing to witness the exercises.

An invitation to accept Christ was the central thought of the sermon, which was listened to with the deepest interest. At the conclusion of the sermon between 30 and 35 of the congregation went forward and grasped the minister's hand, signifying their willingness to accept Christ.

The scene which was enacted after Mr. Wallace had dismissed his congregation was quite affecting. The people thronged about him, assuring him of their love and esteem, and invoking the Divine blessing upon him wherever he might go.

Outer Guard—J. M. Holmes.

These officers will be installed on the first Monday night in July.

Second Crop Strawberries.

Mr. W. F. Alexander, one of the prominent fruit growers of this section, gives the information that his strawberries are blooming the second time. The patches are white with blossoms, and a second crop will be picked about July 15.

The unusual occurrence is accounted for by the fact that the excessive dry weather of the late Spring retarded many of the fruit buds and the recent rains and warm weather caused them to open. Mr. Alexander says the second crop will be, he thinks, better and finer than the first.

Sunday Night Robberies.

The law office of W. H. Moore, colored, in the three-story brick building, corner Second and Market streets, was entered between dark Sunday night and daylight yesterday morning, and drawers ransacked, chairs overturned, and books and papers scattered over the floor. Evidently the thief or thieves were in search of money.

The office of Lawyer White, colored, in an adjoining building, on Second street, was also entered and the same little farce gone through with, as the looks of the office will now plainly show.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Proceedings of Regular Session—Reports From Committees—The Salaries for 1897—Police Appointments Confirmed.

The Board of Aldermen met yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock in regular monthly session. Present, Mayor Wright, Aldermen Keith, Hewlett, Twining, Benson, Green, Norwood and Walker.

The minutes of the meetings during the month of May were read and approved, and the reports of the different standing committees then called for.

Alderman Hewlett, of the Market Committee, reported that the roof of Front street market needed repairing, and one of the restaurants in the rear of the market house needed plastering. A coat of paint, he said, would answer for the roof of Front street market.

Mayor Wright suggested that Alderman Hewlett find out the cost necessary to make the needed repairs, and refer it to his associates on the committee.

The resignation of Mr. Michael Griffin, as captain of the police force, was read and, on motion of Alderman Hewlett, accepted.

Mayor Wright stated that since the election there had been several changes in the police force, and offered the following list for the Board's consideration, viz:

Captain, Robert Green; lieutenant, Thos. C. Lawson; second lieutenant, R. T. Gore; third lieutenant, L. A. Hewlett; patrolmen, Dave Bryant, Nick McDuffie, Willis Richardson, H. B. Green, Joseph Anderson, Lewis Guyer, J. H. Sharpe, George Bell, F. A. Toomer, Rowan Green, J. N. Wells, R. H. Benson, R. M. Murray, H. H. Woebse, J. F. Huggins, J. W. Holmes, H. R. Kuhl, L. P. Thomas, Sam Hall, G. W. Gurganus, W. D. George, J. H. McDonald, C. O. Knox, M. J. Harriss, J. W. Smith, H. J. Whitehead and J. A. Sutton.

In response to a question from Alderman Keith, in regard to the changes, the Mayor stated that the only change had been the addition of M. J. Harriss and the substitution of H. H. Woebse in place of Officer Lewis Gordon.

Officer Keith offered a motion that if the Seacoast Railroad Company would pay a policeman for his services that the city would pay for the outfit, but that the policeman should be under the command of the Chief of Police. Alderman Hewlett seconded the motion, which was carried.

On motion, the list of policemen, as offered by the Mayor, was adopted.

Alderman Keith, of the Light committee, reported that the new electric light system was doing all right, and that he had heard no complaint to the contrary.

On motion of Alderman Walker, a gas lamp was ordered placed in front of the Abbie-Chadbourn Memorial hall of the First Presbyterian church.

Alderman Walker, of the Streets and Wharves committee, stated that he and Alderman Keith, of the same committee, had inspected Wood street, of which complaint had been received, as to the opening of that street and would recommend that the branch of Wood street, complained of, be opened from Wood street, the main line, to Rankin street.

Alderman Keith said he thought the street force could open the street in about two hours' work. He then made motion to that effect, which was seconded by Alderman Green and carried.

Alderman Green said there was considerable complaint in regard to hills of sand on Third street, between Castle and Queen, owing to the recent grading of Castle street. The rain, he said, ran down from these hills into the yards of those living near, and did considerable damage.

Alderman Keith made motion that the foot of Chesnut street be repaired, which, he said, could be done for about $1.50, so as to make a good wharf, beneficial to many. Alderman Green seconded the motion, which was carried.

Alderman Green, of the Water Works Committee, recommended that a hydrant be placed at the corner of Eighth and Wooster streets, and also one at the corner of Seventh and Swann streets.

Alderman Walker said he thought it would be better to place the hydrant at the corner of Sixth and Wooster streets, instead of at the corner of Seventh and Wooster streets. As there was also a petition in to that effect, Alderman Green accepted the amendment.

Mr. C. C. Parker appeared before the Board and requested that a hydrant be placed at corner of Sixth and Wooster streets, which, he said, would be in accordance with the distance between each of the other three hydrants in that portion of the city. Alderman Green, however, thought Eighth and Wooster the best location, and on motion of Alderman Walker the committee's recommendation was adopted.

Mr. Joe King, Jr., appeared before the Board and tendered his resignation as clerk to the Mayor, and, on motion of Alderman Hewlett, it was accepted.

Alderman Keith requested that the contract with the Water Works Company be read. The request was granted and the contract was read by Clerk Rice, after which Alderman Keith said that he had accompanied Chief of Fire Department Schibben to test the pressure of the water works and that they had found about twenty pounds of pressure and a stream of water which could be thrown only twenty feet. "You can't," he said, "expect the fire department to protect property when they can't get the water to do it with, and the Board should investigate." Alderman Keith referred to section 7 of the contract, which reads as follows:

That if the said contractors shall at any time after the said water works is completed, fail to furnish an adequate supply of water for fire purposes, as aforesaid, no rent shall be claimed by them or paid by the city for the use of water during the period of such failure; and if they shall at any time for a period of six months continuously fail to give an adequate supply of water for fire purposes or domestic use, then this contract and agreement shall cease and be at an end.

Alderman Keith said he would make motion for the mayor not to approve the Water Works Company's bills until the contract is complied with.

Mayor Wright stated that he had been informed the Water Works Company had no indications of the Hemenway fire, as the alarm at their works at Hilton did not turn in, and suggested that the investigation, spoken of by Alderman Keith, be referred to a special committee. Alderman Keith then made motion to that effect, which was carried, and the mayor appointed as the committee Aldermen Keith, Green and Twining.

Mayor Wright appointed Mr. Oscar Pearsall as the third member of the committee in regard to the city owning its own water works system.

Alderman Hewlett, of the Fire Committee, stated that the chairman of the committee, Alderman W. E. Yopp, never attended any of the meetings, and he would make a motion that Mayor Wright be substituted in his place. Motion carried.

On the Public Buildings Committee, Alderman Twining was substituted for Alderman Yopp; on Hospital Committee, Alderman Hewlett in place of Alderman Springer; on Sanitary Committee, Alderman Norwood in place of Alderman Fennell; on the Water Works Committee, Alderman Keith in place of Alderman Fennell, and on the Ordinance Committee, Alderman Twining in place of Alderman Springer.

Alderman Hewlett offered an ordinance relative to the taxing of dogs, which was adopted.

On motion, the clerk of the Board was instructed have one thousand copies of the ordinance printed for distribution.

Mayor Wright suggested that the city purchase a stone-crusher, at a cost not to exceed $600, as shells for repairing the streets could not be obtained.

On motion of Alderman Keith, seconded by Alderman Twining the Mayor Wright was empowered to purchase a crusher.

Alderman Twining nominated for the position of Mayor pro tem. Alderman Hewlett, and Alderman Norwood placed in nomination Alderman Keith. Alderman Hewlett received five votes and Alderman Keith two. Alderman Hewlett was declared duly elected.

On motion of Alderman Hewlett, the clerk was instructed to communicate with the Superintendent of Health and ask him to make a monthly report.

A complaint from Messrs. S. & B. Solomon in regard to the imperfect condition of the gutters at Front and Market streets was referred to the Streets and Wharves Committee.

Col. Roger Moore was again awarded the contract for supplying the city with lime, brick, etc.

A claim of Mr. Jno. R. Turrentine, through his attorney, Herbert McClammy, Esq., for $100 on account of damage to his property by water, was referred to the Sanitary Committee.

A petition from a number of citizens asking that an electric light be placed at the intersection of Tenth and Princess streets, was referred to the Light Committee.

The following list of salaries, as passed by the Board of Audit and Finance, was adopted, viz: Mayor, $1,000 per annum; City Clerk and Treasurer and Tax Collector, $1,350 per annum; First Assistant to Treasurer, $1000 per annum; Second Assistant to Treasurer, $900; Commissioner of the Sinking Fund (chairman of the Board of Audit and Finance) $400 per annum; Clerk of the Board of Audit and Finance, $1,100 per annum; Chief of Police Department, $800 per annum; Chief of Police, $1,000 per annum; Captain of Police, $750 per annum; Lieutenant of Police, $650 per annum.

Permissions to build were granted to the following: H. T. Dula, L. H. Vollers, R. Beery, Mrs. Johanna L. Slocumb, Mrs. Mary F. VanAmringe and Messrs. Silva & Savage.

The report of Chief of Fire Department Schnibben was read and ordered filed. The report showed that there had been seven fires during the month of May; two without doubt of incendiary origin and the other five caused by sparks from chimneys.

The report of Treasurer Rice for the month of May was read and ordered filed. The report showed balance on hand last return, $7,193 57; receipts, $3,018.47; balance on hand, $4,118.11; expenditures, $5 097.93.

At 6 o'clock the Board adjourned.

CAMPBELL'S NEW HOTEL.

Preparations for the Opening—Waiters and Cooks Came in Sunday—Ready for Guests Thursday.

Campbell's new hotel is what people who are casting about for a pleasant place to spend a part of the Summer, or the whole of it for that matter, are talking and thinking about just now. Mr. Campbell, the proprietor, arrived for the season Sunday, and numbers of people have been asking him for information. He was accompanied by his mother Mrs. H. A. Campbell, and his aunt, Mrs. Annie Gooch, who will spend some time at the beach.

The corps of waiters and cooks also came in on Sunday. The cooks have had experience in the best hotels of the country, many of them being from Atlanta, so it may be presumed that the meals at the seashore will be prepared to please the most fastidious appetite.

The head clerk, Mr. Sam'l C. Smith, has been here since Saturday. He was engaged last season at Hot Springs.

The hotel will be ready for guests on Thursday, June 10, as already stated.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Meeting Board of Commissioners—Various Matters Considered—The City Hospital—Tax Levy—The Jury List—Board of Education Elected—Reports of County Officials.

The Board of County Commissioners was called to order yesterday afternoon at 2.45 o'clock by Chairman F. W. Foster, Commissioners Moore, Dempsey, Nixon and Alexander being in their seats.

The minutes of the previous regular and special meetings were read and, with slight corrections, approved.

Col. Foster stated that an investigation of the names and residences of the beneficiaries of the county was being made with a view to cutting off those who were drawing unjustly.

On motion, it was ordered that a requisition be granted for a desk and six chairs to be used in the office of Dr. W. P. McMillan, county physician; the cost not to exceed $15.

The jury list of city and county next came up, and the names of several of the fire and military companies were before the Board for exemption, when revising of this list was deferred for special meetings—Thursday and Friday nights.

The petition of Mr. Hans A. Kure to be allowed to sell spirituous liquors at Carolina Beach was granted.

The claim of David Jacobs for $30 as a reward for the capture of Simon Prince, accused of the murder of Walter Pembleton, was not honored.

The resignation of Miss Helen Green, as matron of the City Hospital, was accepted with regret.

A communication was read from Dr. W. W. Lane, physician in charge of the City Hospital, stating that the expenses of the hospital had exceeded the appropriation.

It was ordered that Dr. Lane be informed that the county would not incur expense beyond the amount appropriated.

The report of Dr. J. C. Shepard was read as follows:

"I have the honor to submit this my monthly report for the month of May. There are in the County Home twenty-seven inmates, seven whites and twenty colored. There are in the House of Correction eight persons, two whites and six colored. The institution is well kept. There are in the jail twenty-five prisoners. Would recommend that they be allowed fresh vegetables at least three times a week."

The report was received, and the recommendation as to the use of vegetables adopted.

Col. John D. Taylor, clerk of the Superior Court, reported payment to the Treasurer of $8 50, being fees collected as follows: In Wessel case, $7; in Buck Wright vs. Annie I. Wright, $1.50.

The report of Dr. W. D. McMillan county physician, showed that he had treated 168 patients in his office and made 99 visits to 77 patients at their homes.

Report of Register of Deeds C. W. Norwood showed the issuing of 90 marriage licenses from April 26 to May 31, and the payment to the county of the amount due it, $19 00.

The bill of Mr. H. E. Bonitz for furnishing plans and specifications for the tiling in the court house vaults was ordered paid, the amount being changed to $3 00.

On motion the following was fixed as the levy for 1897:

Hospital, 3½ cents on the $100 valuation; bonded debt, 3 cents; roads and bridges, 3½ cents; military, ½ of a cent; general fund, 21¼ cents. Total, 33 cents. The corresponding figures for last year were 10, 6, 5, 2½, 33½ cents respectively, the total being 47 cents on the $100 valuation, an excess of 15 cents over the total for this year.

The poll tax was calculated at $3 56¼ for State and county; for State $1.69, for county $1.87½.

In accordance with the public school law of 1897 the Board of Commissioners, together with the Clerk of the Court, Col. Jno. D. Taylor, and the Register of Deeds, C. W. Norwood, went into the election of the county board of education.

Before the ballots were cast, Chairman Foster offered some recommendations to the Board of Education which were endorsed by the Board of Commissioners. They were briefly:

1. That the Board of Education receive no compensation.

2. That Prof. M. C. S. Noble be retained in his present position and be appointed as Supervisor for the county without compensation for the latter capacity.

3. That no school in the county shall be for less than six months.

4. That it is the desire of the Board of Education to appoint such men only as the School Committees as will see that fuel is furnished to the schools without charge by the committees of the districts.

5. That all school committeemen for every district in New Hanover county shall render statements to the County Commissioners of all real and personal property held by them, and all insurance and other matters as may be asked for. All contracts, purchasing or selling property shall have the approval of the County Commissioners. Also that the County Treasurer render monthly statements of all moneys paid out, itemizing the same, and stating for what district it is on account of.

The balloting resulted in the choice of Commissioners Foster, Dempsey and Nixon, for whom four votes were cast, the other three being cast for Messrs. W. R. Kenan, Walter G. MacRae and W. B. Canady.

The Board then took a recess until Thursday night. The Auditing Committee meets to-night.

One Cent a Word.

Hereafter advertisements to go in our 'Business Locals" department will be charged one cent per word for each insertion; but no advertisement, however short, will be taken for less than 20 cents

SERIOUS AFFRAY.

A Young Colored Man Attacked and Seriously Injured by Two Negro Men in Brunswick County.

Armand Miller, a young colored man living at "Easy Hill," about five miles from the city on the Brunswick road, was attacked and cruelly beaten while on his way home from church about 9 o'clock Sunday night. The affray happened near Belvidere, and Miller's assailants were Stephen Anderson and Andrew Watters, both colored. They were arrested early yesterday morning upon a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Joe Gay and carried to Southport on the steamer Wilmington, where they were placed in jail to be tried for manslaughter or assault and battery at the next term of the Brunswick County Court.

Dr. T. R. Mask, colored, was called to treat the wounded man. On his return from the last visit last evening about 8 o'clock Dr. Mask reported that his patient was still unconscious. Concussion of the brain may result in death, but it will probably be a day or two yet before it will be known certainly whether he will die from the effects of his wounds or not.

It was not learned why the two boys attacked Miller, but he was accompanied by a girl and it is generally supposed that she had something to do with the affair. The parties under arrest are both young, being less than 21 years of age.

A Bold Intruder.

Sunday night about 8.30 o'clock a lady visitor at the residence of Mr. F. J. Gooding, on Fourth street, between Red Cross and Campbell, started to go out the back door of the house, which leads to a porch, in search for a drink or water, and upon opening the door she was confronted by a negro man. The lady was very much frightened and ran screaming through the house to the front porch, where Mrs. Gooding was sitting. Mr. George P. Johnson, who was standing at the corner of Fourth and Red Cross streets, was attracted by the screams, and immediately went to Mr. Gooding's to ascertain the cause, and upon his arrival, being informed that there was a negro man inside, went into the house and found the negro in the passage. Mr. Johnson took hold of the man and brought him out. When outside the house Mr. Johnson relaxed his hold and the man broke and ran, but was captured by Mr. Jas. F. Woolvin, who was passing by, and carried to the guard house and locked up. The invader gave his name as Ben Street, and claimed, when arraigned before Mayor Wright yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, that he had been working at Mrs. C. P. Bolles, on Third street, between Chesnut and Grace, and Sunday night had mistaken Mr. Gooding's house for Mrs. Bolles'. Mayor Wright, however, decided to hold the defendant, pending a further investigation.

Death of Mrs. London.

A telegram received Sunday announced the death of Mrs. Emily B. London, which occurred suddenly at 2 o'clock Sunday in New York city, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Joseph M. Cronly. Mrs. London had numerous friends in this city who loved and valued her for her sweet Christian character and who will regret exceedingly to learn that she has passed away. She had not been in robust health for some time, but that the end would come so soon no one suspected.

The deceased was the widow of M. London, Esq., so well known as a prominent member of the Wilmington bar. She was born in Virginia, and was a sister of Capt. Pembroke Jones and Col. Thomas Jones, of Virginia. She removed from this city to New York about two years ago with the family of her son-in-law, Mr. Joseph M. Cronly, who married her only daughter and child. She was about 68 years of age.

The remains left New York at 9 o'clock last night and will arrive here at 5.45 this evening.

MUSICAL RECITAL.

Charming Entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Last Evening.

The recital of Mrs. Minnie Fish-Griffin and Mr. Bennett Griffin at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night proved a musical treat of the first order, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The following was the programme rendered:

"Spring Flowers," Reinecke, "Protestations," Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin.
Legende, Wieniawski, Mr. Griffin.
"Soloeig's Song," Grieg, "Love's Philosophy," Jordan, Mrs. Griffin.
Gypsy Melodies, Sarasate, Mr. Griffin.
"Songs My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak, "Bird Song," Taubert, Mrs. Griffin.
Air and Variations, Rode, Mr. Griffin.
Frueblingszeit, Weil, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin.

Miss Bessie Bartt, of this city, accompanied the performers on the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin are under the management of Mr. H. J. Hirshinger.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 8, 1897

OVERPRODUCTION.

The reason usually assigned for the low prices of farm products and other things for some years past is "overproduction." The farmers produce too much, it is said, more than there is a demand for, and therefore prices go down. The manufacturers produce more than there is a demand for, and therefore go down on their goods. The farmer complains and he is told that his remedy is in a high tariff that will build up a "home market," although they have been building up this "home market" for thirty-odd years, during all of which time we have had a high tariff. Notwithstanding the fact that the higher the tariff, the lower the prices of farm products went, they stuck to the old fake of the high tariff and the home market as the farmers' hope. When the manufacturer suffered from overproduction he complained that he was doing business at a loss, could not compete with foreign manufacturers, demanded more protection and generally speaking got it.

Simmered down this means that the farmers who raise more stuff than they can sell, even at prices very little if any above the cost of production, are to be taxed more to enable the manufacturers to make more goods to sell to the farmers who are unable to buy what they make now. The manufacturers are to be protected in a home market which they overstock with goods, and encouraged by cutting off competition to make more goods when they could not find profitable sale for what they had been making.

When there is a surplus of wheat, corn, or any other food commodity, it is called overproduction, although there may be millions of people who live on short rations. When the manufacturers shut down until they can dispose of the stocks accumulated it is called overproduction, although the masses of the people wear fewer clothes, shoes, etc., and buy less of other things than they need or would like to have. It is overproduction in both industries compared with the demand for consumption, but not when compared with the capacity for consumption, and that ought to be the real test of overproduction. For a year or more millions of people have been starving in India and China, but there is such a surplus of food stuffs in this country that the prices are on some products so low that it will not pay to haul them to market. Locally speaking, this is overproduction, but for the world at large it is not, for if the surplus of this country were put down in India and in China, it would scarcely be sufficient to meet the wants of the starving in those countries.

It is overproduction or not, just as you look at it, but as a matter of fact it is under consumption rather than overproduction and under consumption which in our country, without speaking of others, has been the result of unfortunate public policies, one of which was enhancing the value of money, and proportionately reducing the value of everything exchanged for money. Money has been made the standard of value when it should no more be the standard of value than a bushel of wheat or a bale of cotton. But not satisfied with that modern financiers to still further make money supreme, decided that there should be only one kind of money, and that this one must be the sole standard of value, Making that the standard, and doubling its value, reduced by one-half the value of the commodities of trade. That is the situation to-day, and the main reason for the "overproduction" to which low prices are attributed.

If the sole purpose of human legislation is to protect the dollar and make it more valuable and harder to get than it was before, all this may be well enough; but if the purpose of human legislation is to better the condition of mankind—to house, feed and cloth people better, to give them not only the necessaries, but more of the comforts and the sunshine of life, then the legislators who devise methods of giving the dollar extraordinary and fictitious value pursue a very unhappy policy and do the world inestimable wrong. A man who toils for beggarly wages must live like a beggar, and if he has a family he must raise them as beggars. They have nothing to pay for what the farm produces or the manufactory turns out. The policy which makes money so scarce and therefore so dear that a man can't earn enough of it to support him in reasonable comfort is a mistaken, a stupid and a cruel policy, and has more to do with this alleged overproduction than the industry of the farmer, the favor of the seasons or the industry of the manufacturer.

To talk about bringing prosperity to this country by putting heavier taxes on the people, without doing something to enable the people to pay more taxes is the sheerest folly. It is not only folly but it is oppression, for while it does nothing to add to the ability of the people to buy the products of the protected, it debars them from the opportunity of buying in some cheaper market, in which under the present policy they are compelled to sell much of what th y produce. They are beginning at the wrong end even if what they are doing is right. The money problem is the first thing that should settled and so settled that the people could supply themselves with all the currency they desired, whether it be ten dollars per capita or a hundred per capita. It is the famine in money that causes the "overproduction" of other things, and that famine will never be overcome until the people are reinvested with the right to regulate the money question for themselves and the national Government confines itself to its legitimate function of coining the money metals into money for those who present the bullion at the mint. When that is done and the volume of circulating money becomes ample there will be little fear in this country of overproduction.

MINOR MENTION.

In his colloquy between Senators Vest, of Missouri, and Bacon, of Georgia, Saturday, on the wood schedule, Senator Bacon while objecting to putting white pine lumber on the free list denied that he was a protectionist, while at the same time admitting that he wanted a duty on lumber to protect those of his constituents who are engaged in the lumber business. This is practically speaking a distinction without a difference. It simply means that while Mr. Bacon does not choose to be classed as a protectionist on general principles he is a protectionist when any interest that he represents is involved. This isn't as creditable as being a protectionist on general principles, for its lacks honesty and consistency, and abounds more in selfishness. The only difference between Senator Bacon and the protectionist on general principles is that the industries in Mr. Bacon's State that seek protection are few, if there were more of them he would be more of a protectionist, so that the only difference between him and the out-and-out protectionist consists in the number of industries they would protect. Senator Bacon might have opposed putting lumber on the free list on the ground that if the lumber men of Georgia were taxed for the benefit of other industries, it is only right that they receive some compensation by taxing for their benefit the industries that they help to support. He could consistently have done this without committing himself to protection on the instalment plan, for when he contended that the lumbermen of his State needed protection, and for that reason he opposed putting lumber (white pine or any other kind) on the free list, he gave himself away.

One of the leading business manufactories of Rhode Island has contracted with a New York importing house for its entire output, part of the contract being that these goods be marked "made in England." The object of this fraud is to sell these as imported goods. It is a fraud on the buyers, on American manufactures, and also a fraud upon the Government, which is thus taken advantage of by permitting the foreign brand to be put upon untaxed goods, which sell in competition with imported taxed goods and also with American manufactures. If that fraud became anything like general how much revenue would the Government get out of imported goods, or how much goods would be imported of any kinds made in this country? This is a fraud, therefore, not only on all other American manufacturers, but on American importers, on American purchasers, and on the Government which is injuriously affected by it. There are many articles used in this country which bear foreign trade marks which are made in this country, and the makers profit by it because they get a higher price, but it shouldn't be allowed, for every article bearing a foreign trade mark ought to be subjected to tax the same as if made abroad; this as a protection to the American manufacturer, the purchaser and the Government, as all suffer by the fraud.

The tobacco boards of trade will make a hard fight against the proposed increase of the tobacco tax which will seriously affect their business and put them to much inconvenience and loss, for they must either raise the price of their tobacco which will mean reduced sales, or they must make smaller plugs which means throwing out much of the machinery they now use and replacing it with others. But it means more than this, for it will require a larger capital in proportion to the amount of business done as the manufacturer is required to pay the tax on his goods before they leave the factory. With money as scarce as it is in the South, where banking facilities are limited and interest high compared with some other sections, this is a very serious matter with most of our manufacturers. They will either be compelled to use more money or to reduce their output, and the probabilities are that they will also be compelled to economize in labor and reduce the cost of that. It remains to be seen what Senator Pritchard will do in behalf of his constituents when this matter comes up. He can kill the tobacco tax if he fights it; but he voted for the cotton tie tax.

BOOK NOTICES.

The Outlook of June 5th is filled with interesting reading matter, much of it suggestive of ways to spend the Summer vacation pleasantly and profitably. This number is nicely illustrated. Address The Outlook, No. 13 Astor Place, New York.

The Southern States Magazine for June presents among other articles three valuable ones. One on "Money in Cotton Growing," by D. A Tompkins; "Pure Water versus Malaria," by Dr. Dabney; and "Southern Newspapers and History," by Edward Ingle. Published by the Manufacturers' Record Publishing Company, Baltimore, Md.

Tales from Town Topics for June presents a number of very interesting tales, with a story complete entitled "Princess Enigma." There are several shorter stories and miscellaneous matter to interest the reader. Published by The Town Topics Publishing Company, 208 Fifth avenue, New York.

The reader will be delighted with The Review of Reviews for June, which is filled with interesting and instructive reading matter, copiously illustrated. In addition to other articles on current topics is an instructive one on sugar production, while "The Progress of the World" is, as usually, interesting. Address, Review of Reviews, 13 Astor Place, New York.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— The friends of the Sugar Trust in the Senate may succeed in dodging the Tillman pitchfork resolution, but they will find it harder to get away from the contempt all honest men feel for that commercial variety of integrity which scorns a bribe bonly until it is offered through a broker as "groundfloor" profits on a Wall street gambling transaction.—New York World, Dem.

—— A republican paper opposes a duty on tea, because "it would be a tax, pure and simple." Just so. Duties to suit your genuine republican must have another purpose besides the one of taxation, and the other purposes is the giving of somebody or some combination, a take out. In fact, most of the duties are laid with the view of private profit first, and government revenue afterwards.—Chattanooga Times, Dem.

—— "We don't want to be excluded from your markets," said Senor Murguiondo, the representive of Uruguay in the United States, in his speech yesterday at the International Trade Congress. "We don't want you," he continued, "to say you are glad to see us, and then kick us out." Uruguayans wish to sell us wool and hides. It is as greatly to our advantage to buy of them as it is to their advantage to sell to us. Senor Murguiondo's plea not to kicked out is respectfully referred to the people of the United States.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

"DR. MILES,

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands."

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1895, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. Dr. Miles, through his Nervine is a benefactor to thousands."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Roanoke Beacon: Notwithstanding the old cry of hard times, Plymouth is on a building boom. Mr. W. J. Jackson, contractor and builder, informs us that he has now in process of construction and to erect, four more dwellings.

— Salisbury World: Mr. Lewis Cauble, the star route mail carrier between Salisbury and Mocksville, brought in town with him yesterday afternoon a trophy of yesterday's trip. It was a snake six feet eight inches in length, and was killed three miles this side of Mocksville by Mr. Cauble. It is of the black racer variety.

— Raleigh News and Observer: Reports from different portions of the State to the Agricultural Department indicate that the damage to apples by the frosts of early spring is much greater than was at first supposed. Some correspondents put the apple crop in their section this year, as compared with last, at 5 per cent; others put it at 20.

— Rockingham Index: A very disastrous hail storm passed through upper Richmond last Saturday. Several large cotton farms were literally cut to pieces, and hundreds of acres have been planted over. Oats and other small grain were entirely lost, being shattered and beat into the ground. Some of the hail stones were as large as hen eggs, and remained on the ground until Sunday evening before melting.

— Winston Sentinel: A Government in the secret service department spent a night in Winston last week and went up to Sparta, Alleghany county, to arrest a man by the name of R. H. Thompson, who has been selling drugs at that place for several months, and who is charged with making and passing counterfeit money. Thompson was a little too smart for the secret service man he skipped before the officer arrived.

— Washington Messenger: Mrs. W. B. Blount, Jr., who lives about fourteen miles from this town, in Chocowinity, hearing a disturbance in her hen house this morning between 1 and 2 o'clock, went in to investigate, when without warning she was attacked and bitten on the arm by a run mad dog. The dog later, about 4 o'clock, bit several hogs and cattle of a neighbor, Mr. Oliver Evett. Mr. Evett succeeded in killing him. Mrs. Blount came to the city this afternoon for treatment.

— Sanford Express: Mr. John Walker, whose death was noted in the Express two weeks ago, bought the cloth 90 years ago that made his burial suit and covered his coffin. He requested that the cloth be used for this purpose. His wishes were granted. —— The Southern Brownstone and Construction Company will open up their quarries between Sanford and Cumnock within the next thirty days, and the Express is informed that they have work for three years ahead. —— J. W. Tufts, the Boston millionaire who has built the wonderful town of Pinehurst, has given orders for the construction of 40 more cottages before November 1st, also for the erection of the largest hot house in the State. The latter will be largely used for forcing early vegetables.

Amateur Essays.

Apropos of extravagant education, there is no more utter waste, whether in board schools or those of higher class, than essay writing by children. A poultry paper quotes a little boy's effort on that subject. "Geece is a nasty anamal, for they will jump up your back and beat you with their feathers," writes this budding literary genius, and "the turkese is a large kind of hen." This may be an extreme instance, but it furnishes the text for an essay on "geece" of quite another kind.—London Sketch.

To Lighten the Room.

A room situated so that it does not get any direct sunlight, but only reflected light, may be made more cheerful if the walls are covered with a paper that has a background of some delicate yellow shade. The painted woodwork should be of a creamy tint, and with yellow india silk or muslin draperies at the windows one can almost imagine oneself in a room with a southern exposure.

SHE'S WELL EDUCATED.

A Woman Who Has Learned Entirely by Careful Listening.

The wonderful development of certain faculties in the cases of persons who have lost the use of some of their natural functions, or of others whose faculties have not been fully developed, has long been a matter of remark, but it is not alone the outside observers who appreciate the provisions of nature for the benefit of the unfortunates. The sufferers themselves often appreciate this fully, and in some instances, after years, grow to depend so much upon their acquired faculties as to be afraid of a change, even if they have the chance of one.

An illustration of this is given by a woman in Brooklyn who never has learned to read or write. In no way could one discover this except by her own admission or by putting her to a direct test, for she is one of the best educated women in the country, conversant with languages, art, literature and all the current topics of the day. She is rich, too, and could afford all the services of the best teachers if she but chose to learn to read, but she refuses to do so.

When this woman was a child, her parents lived far from schools, so she had no chance then to learn to read or write. As a mere child she began to earn her own living, and again the chance for schooling slipped away. Then she married and the cares of a family took up her time. By the time the babies were off her hands, her husband had grown rich, and then she began her real education, and now, as a widow, she continues it. Her companions read to her and talk with her about all the topics which interest her. Years of such work have stored her mind with a rich treasure of knowledge, and there is not a page of a book that has been read to her that she is not familiar with. Her stores of knowledge are at her instant command. Why will she not learn to read? Because, she says, she fears that this wonderful memory, which is now such a treasure house to her, might be impaired if she were to do anything to weaken the demands upon it.

What such a memory can do is well illustrated in the case of a tailor of this city who cannot read or write. He is probably the most widely known man in his business here, as for many years he has done business with New York's firemen and policemen. Almost every man of these two bodies has dealings with this tailor, and each month between the first and the tenth days he visits every station house and engine and truck house in this city to collect his dues. He has acquired considerable wealth, and it is said of him that in all the years he has dealt with the firemen and policemen he never was known to make a mistake of a cent in any man's account, although all his records of transactions have been kept in his head.—New York Sun.

WHEN GRANT WAS POOR.

A Time In His Career When He Needed the Wherewithal.

General W. H. L. Barnes, one of the leaders of the San Francisco bar, at a meeting of the California commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, told the following story about General Grant. It was told years ago to General Barnes by Captain Richard L. Ogden, once a clerk in the office of the United States quartermaster at San Francisco, and General Barnes recently copied it from Captain Ogden's diary.

It was that when Grant resigned his commission as captain, at the age of 32, being then in Oregon, he went to San Francisco on his way home and presented to Captain Ogden a certificate of per diem service on a court martial amounting to about $40. The certificate was incorrectly drawn, and Grant with a look of despair asked Captain Ogden's permission to sleep on the lounge in the latter's office, saying he had not a cent to his name. He slept on the rickety office lounge, and Ogden agreed to cash the certificate personally and to send it back to Oregon for correction. Grant had expected to buy passage for himself to New York in the steerage, but Ogden went with him to the Pacific Mail steamship office and procured for him a cabin passage pass, or what was the nearest to it the steamship company could give, for Grant had to pay his railroad fare across the isthmus. This, however, left him $15, and Grant was very grateful.

The diary quotes him as saying to Captain Ogden: "This is a great luxury and what I did not expect, and I am indebted to you for it. The prospect of ever being able to reciprocate is certainly remote, but strange things happen in this world, and there is no knowing."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Size of the Congressional Library.

Founded in the year 1800 by the modest appropriation of $5,000 "for the purchase of such books as may be necessary for the use of congress at the said city of Washington," this collection has grown, notwithstanding the ravages of two fires, to the present aggregate of 740,000 volumes. The acquisition of the Jefferson library in 1815, the Force Historical library in 1865, the Smithsonian library in 1867 and the Toner collection in 1882, all constituted specially important and valuable accessions to its stores. And by the enactment of the copyright law of 1870, followed by the international copyright act of 1891, this library became entitled to receive two copies of all books, periodicals and other publications claiming the protection of copyright in the United States. —A. R. Spofford in Century.

Educating the Boy.

Every boy should have his head, his heart and his hand educated. Let this truth never be forgotten. By the proper education of the head he will be taught what is good and what is evil, what is wise and what is foolish, what is right and what is wrong. By the proper education of the heart he will be taught to love what is good, wise and right and to hate what is evil, foolish and wrong. And by proper education of the hand he will be enabled to supply his wants, to add to his comforts and to assist those around him. The highest objects of a good education are to reverence and obey God and to love and serve mankind. When wisdom reigns in the head and love in the heart, the man is ever ready to do good; order and peace reign around, and sin and sorrow are almost unknown.—New York Ledger.

Lunch For Business Girls.

"The putting up of the cold lunch is no easy matter, as many mothers realize when they find the question before them," writes Phebe Westcott Humphreys in The Ladies' Home Journal. "The wise mother, however, is ever on the alert, and many savory compounds, in the way of potted meats, etc., are prepared in connection with the home cookery that are quickly sliced and invitingly arranged in the lunch basket and help to form a plentiful, nourishing lunch. The first consideration in preparing these lunches should be healthfulness, yet daintiness is of equal importance. Is is an easy matter to make the home luncheon attractive, even when served cold. The white table linen and attractive table appointments seem to impart a certain 'relish' to the food.

"One of the first requisites for a dainty lunch should be a lunch box or basket that can be readily scalded and kept sweet and clean, and waxed paper and Japanese napkins, or a quantity of linen napkins, to separate the articles of food. Waxed paper is especially important, as pickles, sandwiches, cake or anything that is wrapped in it may be kept fresh without destroying the flavor of the other. A corner in the dresser drawer well stocked with these papers, with the doilies, etc., and the small glasses, with tight fitting lids, should be a part of the regular kitchen furnishing in every home where cold lunches are to be put up each day."

THE FAIRY WIFE.

What will I do the long days through that see not you, ma gilli mar?
How shall I bring the heart to sing amid the folk that deathless are?
We loved ten years, and now no tears your fairy wife can find to shed.
Ma gilli mar, now you go far on a path her feet can never tread.

Mavrone, mavrone, that I make my moan from a breast like stone, ma gilli mar!
No tears to shed on your golden head, and the lips that laughed and silent are!
You chose me out from the fairy rout, you gave me sorrow and hope and fear,
And now I lean by your bed and keen and wish you had given me death, my dear.

What will I do the long days through of years that you know not, machree?
My fairy birth is crossed with earth, and my kindred's mirth is strange to me.
The laughter wild of my fairy child that never smiled in her father's face
Pricks through my heart while I walk apart where shadows brood in his sleeping place.

Why would you give me, that must live for weary years, to fade like dew,
The gift to know earth's joy and woe, but not to go to the grave with you?
Ma gilli mar, your way lies far by never a star that might light my feet,
Yet had but I the gift to die it's the same night that we two would meet.
—Nora Hopper in New York Tribune.

A Truthful Assertion.

There is a young man of this city who is as chronically light and happy, gay and free as a comic opera chorus. Nothing can stop the sparkling ripple of his good spirits. His disposition enables him to remember occasions such as drive others to the verge of despair with joyous enthusiasm. He was walking along the avenue, arm in arm with a friend, when he stopped suddenly and called attention to a plain, middle aged man who was coming out of an office building.

"Did you ever see him before?" he asked.

"Never," replied the friend.

"He looks a gret deal like anybody else, doesn't he?"

"He assuredly does."

"He's one of the people you'd pass in a crowd without looking at twice, isn't he?"

"Undoubtedly."

"You'd never have thought that man had kept me sitting for hours at a time in open mouthed astonishment, would you?"

"Never."

"But he has. And I'm sure there are other people who will tell the same story."

"What is he—a lecturer?"

"Not that I know of."

"Maybe he's a parlor magician?"

"No. He isn't even the advance agent of a show. He's a dentist."—Washington Star.

X Ray Humors.

A negro, familiar with chicken coops, who had heard of the illuminating power of the X rays, consulted a doctor to learn whether they could reveal whose chicken he had eaten. Listener of the Boston Transcript tells of a boy who also had confidence in the ability of the rays to make apparent hidden things.

A little 13-year-old boy who has been the victim of hip trouble and of several operations, so that he at least may be pardoned for thinking and talking about surgery, heard that a small friend of his was in danger of having to undergo an operation for some trouble in the stomach, and he said gravely to the child's mother:

"Well, if I were you, Mrs. D., I'd first get intimate with Mr. Edison and look through his cathode ray into Tom's stomach and find out what's there before I operated."

Large Shop.

Among the stories told of early Californian days is one which gives a remarkable picture of a blacksmith shop.

In the days before roads had been laid out and sawmills built a blacksmith settled on one of the river bars, and, erecting a forge of clay and stones, set the anvil on a big tree stump, which he had sawed low for that purpose, and did a thriving business sharpening the picks and drills of the miners.

He was himself a miner and did his blacksmithing almost entirely at night. Not knowing when his claim might fail or be disputed and be forced to move on to another place, he did not think it worth his while to build a regular shop.

One day two of the miners left the bar for a town some 90 miles away. As they came into the main trail leading to the blacksmith's haunt they met a man leading a horse which had lost a shoe and was stumbling badly.

"Strangers," said the man in a weary tone, "can you tell me how far it is to the blacksmith's shop? My horse has lost a shoe, and he's mighty lame."

"Well, now," said one of the miners, leaning forward and smiling in a most encouraging way, "don't you be for givin up. You're in the blacksmith's shop now, though I'm bound to tell you it's about three miles before you'll strike the anvil."—Youth's Companion.

SEEING THE ELEPHANT.

How It Was Done by Some New Hampshire Boys In 1821.

Mr. Briggs asks leave to tell a New Hampshire elephant story. He was brought up in Keene, and there, in August, 1821, every boy was excited by the sight of placards announcing the advent of "a great natural curiosity," nothing less than "a living female elephant"—"admittance 12½ cents; children half price."

The days of Barnum had not yet come, and so far as Mr. Briggs knows, this was the first elephant that ever set foot in the Granite State. Of course every boy was bound to see it. But how? Ninepences did not grow on every bush, and some scheming was necessary. The boys "got together in convention," like a committee of ways and means, and not without result.

The elephant was exhibited in the daytime and was driven from town to town in the darkness of night. The boys found out in some way that it would be driven into Keene over a certain road—Prison street. On this road, at a point about half a mile from the hotel, was a large common, and half a mile farther away was a bridge over Beaver brook. The boys laid their plans to see the elephant at the expense of a wagon load of shavings and a peck of potatoes.

These were deposited on the common. Then boys were stationed at short intervals along the road, beginning at the bridge. The moment the elephant arrived at the bridge the first boy was to shout "Hello!" at the top of his voice and start on the run for the common. The next boy, hearing the shout, was to do likewise, and so on down the line.

Well, the night came, and with it the elephant. But when the first boy saw it, he was literally struck dumb with astonishment. As he could not shout, he waited to see the creature cross the bridge. When she put her foot on it, however, she felt that it was not safe and refused to proceed, and the men in charge had to drive her through the stream.

By this time the sentry had recovered his voice, and with a vigorous "Hello!" started down the road. Before the elephant reached the common the boys were all there and the shavings were in a blaze. By the light of the fire the elephant caught sight of the pile of potatoes, and no persuasion could get her past them till they were devoured.

And there stood the boys looking on, with their money, if they had any, safe in their pockets.

Mr. Briggs declares that this line of boys was the original telephone, and that the modern instrument dates back to this nocturnal New Hampshire beginning he proves by the fact that the word "Hello" is still the telephone signal the country over.—Youth's Companion.

An Easy Victim.

Flips is back from Chicago and the experience following is gradually gaining circulation among this friends. Flips is one of those men for whom flies are supposed to have no affinity. He knows the ins and outs of the world. He rather likes to encounter the people who live by their wits and show them that he can beat their many games.

Flips walked into one of the big hotels of the Breezy City, shook hands with the clerk as an old acquaintance, wrote his name with an extra flourish, had a room assigned him and was half way to the door when he was stopped by a fine looking man with extended hand. He called Flips by name, asked after several Detroit people and showed a disposition to keep up talk. But Flips declined to thaw out, winked at the clerk and congratulated himself that he knew a bunko artist when he saw the article.

The stranger passed through to the bar and Flips was at once accosted by a large, well dressed, rather long haired young fellow. "Did that man try his game on you?" was the salutation. "Out our way he wouldn't last long. But it's different here. Let's follow him and see if we can't land him."

"Oh, what's the use. It isn't worth the time," and Flips looked superior. Then the two fell into conversation and Flips was delightfully entertained by the stories of the westerner. At length they went out together just to look about. In the morning Flips waked up in one chair while his feet occupied another. It was a dingy place in a dingy neighborhood. He dived for his watch to ascertain the time. It was not there. He felt for his money. It must have gone with his watch. He hurried to the hotel. There he met the first stranger of the night before, an old Detroit boy. He lent Flips what he needed.—Detroit Free Press.

Curry the Farm Horses.

Horses on the farm do not have the sleek look that horses in the city liveries have. Neither will they accomplish so much work. The difference is partly owing to the fact that the horse in the city has a large proportion of grain, while the farm horse, even while working, gets most of his nutrition from hay. But grooming has also a great deal to do with the superior slickness of the city horse's coat. The curry comb is not so much used as it should be on farm horses.

We know, says The Prince Edward Island Agriculturist, many places where the brush and curry comb are seldom used, except while the horse is shedding his coat. But used at any time it promotes the secretion of oil, which moistens the coat and makes it shine. A well groomed horse is usually well fed. But if the grooming were thoroughly done at least once a day, the horse would keep in good condition with less food than it now receives.

Good grooming undoubtedly aids digestion, as rubbing the body promotes digestion in people, and is an excellent substitute for exercise for those who do little muscular work.

A Wonderful Blind Pianist.

Signor Arturo Nuttini is a blind pianist who is not a freak, but a player of remarkable ability. He was born in Florence 38 years ago and became totally blind in his first year, but he now plays the most difficult rhapsodies of Liszt, sonatas of Beethoven and other classical compositions with wonderful technic and expression. While Paderewski and his contemporaries play Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 6," one of the most difficult compositions, in a transposed key, Signor Nuttini plays it in the original key—six sharps.

The way Signor Nuttini learns his pieces is curious. He has a little machine, consisting of a flat metal board, in which there are tiny grooves, over which he fits a sheet of thick paper, and, with the aid of a little ruler and awl, perforates all his music in a peculiar manner as his interpreter reads it from the regular staff. No music is too intricate for him to copy, and often after once copying the composition he can play it without first running his sensitive fingers over the perforations.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Did His Best.

If a servant obeys orders as far as he can and does his work correctly as far as he goes, what more can be expected? And yet the result is not always satisfactory, even to reasonable employers. Here is a story of a lady who owns a large and handsome dog, of which she is very fond, and perhaps a little proud. The other day she sent him out to the stable to be weighed, confiding the operation to a new servant, who looked upon the powerful animal with considerable awe. The man was gone a surprisingly long time, but at last reappeared and announced that the dog weighed 100 pounds.

"One hundred pounds!" repeated the lady. "Are you sure you weighed him right? He must weigh more than that."

"Oh, yes, marm, sure an I weighed him right, but I couldn't get him all on the scales."—Strand Magazine.

What She Wanted to Be.

All the children except Nonie were going to play "menagerie." Nonie wanted to sleep, but the others wished her to join in.

Jack was to be a lion, he said. Tom wanted to represent a camel, and the others all made choice.

"Nonie, what do you want to be?"

Nonie drowsily answered, "Oh, I want to be a—a"—

"Well, what is it?" impatiently yelped Jack.

And faintly came the answer, "I want to be a—a—a—sleep."—Pittsburg News.

MR. RUST GETS A LETTER.

Delayed Because Addressed to Him Under His Chemical Name.

As curious a letter as has been received in Kansas City for many months reached the postoffice recently, and after a great display of learning on the part of some of the clerks it was finally delivered to the man for whom it was intended. The distributing clerk who first got hold of the letter looked at it in despair. It was plainly evident that the writer of the letter had been burning the midnight oil in an attempt to baffle the postoffice force.

The first line contained the letters "J. S. FE2O3." The letters were plain enough, but what did they mean? The next line began with a large A, then there was a carefully executed drawing of what had the appearance of a barber's comb, then a small a, and finally a representation of a house, drawn by one whose early education had been sadly neglected.

What should have been the third line of the address was in the shape of a more or less accurate map of Kansas City, showing the junction of the streets in that vicinity. The last line was another map, showing the boundaries of the state of Missouri.

It was plain enough that the letter was for some one who lived in the state of Missouri and in Kansas City. It did not take a great stretch of imagination to discover that the comb and the sketch of a house had some vague reference to the Acoma building. So far it was easy sailing, but who was the mysterious "J. S. FE2O3?"

After puzzling his brain for a long time, without any good result, the clerk took the letter to Night Clerk Canfield, who is supposed to be able to guess all sorts of conundrums.

"I can tell you a part of it," said he. "I can tell you that 'FE2O3' are the chemical symbols for ferric oxide. Now if you can find out who he is you are all right."

Still the distributing clerk was unable to solve the question. He went about asking every one what he knew about ferric oxide. He finally encountered one man who was more of a chemist than the others, and he imparted to him the information that ferric oxide in common parlance is called "rust."

That is how J. S. Rust received the letter over which his friend in Conception, Mo., had spent so much time.—Kansas City Times.

HE GOT HIS ANSWER.

But It Was Very Different From What He Had Expected.

As the train pulled out of Chicago a quiet, gentlemanly looking man entered the buffet car, and, ensconcing himself in a comfortable chair, drew out a long cigar and entered deeply into his paper. He remained so quiet and retained his seat so long that another passenger, whose bearing distinctly stamped him as a commercial traveling man, one of the kind full of chatter and curiosity, could no longer restrain himself. Addressing the quiet gentleman, he inquired, "Traveling east?"

Slowly removing his cigar, the gentleman turned and looked at his questioner with slightly elevated eyebrows, replying, "Yes."

"New York?"

"Yes."

"Pleasure?"

"Yes and no."

"Great place, New York. Ever been there before?"

"No."

"I'm going home this trip—New York, you know."

The gentleman made no reply, but resumed his paper. After a little silence the commercial man began again.

"I'm with C. & Co., on Broadway. If you drop in, I'll show you over the city."

"Thank you, it will not be necessary!"

"Excuse me, but might I ask what you're going to New York for?"

By this time most of the other passengers were interested. The gentleman, who was extremely annoyed at the drummer's curiosity, laid down his paper and exclaimed:

"I'm going to New York, first, because the train is taking me there; second, because I've got lots of money and can afford it, and, last, because if I like the place I intend to buy it."

The commercial man subsided amid a roar of laughter.—Philadelphia Times.

The Center Table.

Some one recently has spoken a word in favor of the old time center table, and it would indeed be a good thing could it be restored. The very presence of its bright lamp, its periodicals and its books suggests sociability and delightful intercourse. The very opportunity it offers for the drawing up of many chairs is a silent invitation, and it so possesses a subtle charm that is all its own. What we most need in our modern social life are informal gatherings where companionship can be enjoyed without the preparation and the fuss attendant upon a dinner or a reception. And, as the center table may properly be called a promoter of just such happy homes, it would be well were it once more given a place.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Following Precedent.

"I'm too practical to do as heroes do in books, Miss Slight, so I'll just ask you bluntly, will you be my wife?"

"No, thank you, Mr. Terse. I myself don't believe in those silly, bookish notions, and as the silly heroines always say yes, why, I'll tell you bluntly, no, sir, I won't."—Philadelphia North American.

It was the belief of Livingstone that nearly all lions were "left handed." He watched them closely, and when they desired to strike a fierce blow they always used the left paw.

The popular belief that the sap of trees goes down into the roots in winter, and rises again in the spring is false.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 8, 1897

SITUATION IN CUBA.

THE ISLAND DEVASTATED BY CRUEL RELENTLESS WAR.

Story Told by Special Commissioner Calhoun on His Arrival in New York City—Consul General Lee Will Make Official Report to the Government.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 7.—William J. Calhoun, who was sent to Cuba as a special commissioner to investigate the circumstances of the death in prison of Dr. Ruiz, an American citizen, reached this city on his return to-day. He was accompanied by George W. Fishback, his secretary, and Charles M. Pepper, a Washington newspaper correspondent, who went to Cuba with the commissioner.

Mr. Calhoun said that the commission held three sittings between May 20th and June 1st, at Havana, Reglus and Guonabacco. The papers examined in the case were chiefly military records. The final report will be made at Washington by General Lee.

In a conversation Mr. Calhoun said: "The island of Cuba is rapidly being devastated by a relentless, cruel and bitter civil war, so that in a short time it will not be worth anything to any one. It is difficult to get at the exact situation there. In the first place there is a severe censorship of the press, and those who are naturally friendly to the Cubans, hardly dare to express their views and opinions. Furthermore, the adherents of both sides are exceedingly intense. They tell their stories just as they want you to believe them. From the Spanish point of view, the island is practically pacified and from that of the Cubans, the insurgents never were in better shape than they now are."

"Did you go into the interior of the island?" asked the reporter.

"Yes. I went from Havana to Matanzas. While both are on the seacoast, still to go from one point to the other by rail it takes you through a large part of interior country. I also made several short trips from Havana in other directions."

"What is the condition of the country?"

"It seems to be entirely depopulated, and there are no signs of any buildings standing except at the railroad stations. These, by the way, are practically forts. I was generally informed that the same condition of affairs exists throughout Cuba—from Havana to Pinar del Rio, except in the extreme eastern end. There is where the Cubans get their supplies and their cattle. They control that section now. It was the portion of the island which held out ten years in the last war. Cuba is undoubtedly a magnificent country. It is rich and beautiful, and the soil responds bountifully to the seed.

"While I am not called upon to make any formal report to the President, because I acted merely as counsel to General Lee, in the Ruiz case, still I may be asked to tell Mr. McKinley and the Secretary of State of the things which I have seen and heard in my brief trip to the island of Cuba. In that case, I readily will do so."

"At the sessions of the commission," Mr. Calhoun said, in response to a reporter's questioning, "we examined several witnesses, but when you ask me if they were plentiful I can only say that they did not run after us and we had to use no force to keep them away. They were composed of Spaniards and Cubans. The Spanish witnesses, and in fact all of those who testified, were so surrounded with safeguards that it was impossible to get at the naked truth. One person whom we would have liked to hear could not be found. This was Fondsdeviela, who commanded the Spanish in the Guanabacoa territory. He disappeared and it was impossible to find him. Captain General Weyler did not put in an appearance at the investigation. We inspected the jail at Guanabacoa, and when we were there it was suspiciously clean. We learned that Dr. Ruiz was arrested on February 4th, charged with having some connection in an insult which took place in a railroad train between Guanabacoa and Havana. He was placed in solitary confinement, or as it is known there, he was incommunicado. Thirteen days later he was taken out of his cell on account of his mental and physical condition. It was then found that he was suffering from a severe wound on the head, and he died two hours after he had been released from the cell, in which the secret of the injury is buried. The question of the deceased doctor's American citizenship was never denied. The autopsy showed that he died from congestion of the brain. His remains are interred at Guanabacoa. We had no positive or direct proof of any assault whatever, and the conclusion arrived at must be based on the detailed evidence in the report of Consul General Lee, which is now on its way to Washington. I, myself, will make no report and I prefer not to say anything as to my idea of the affair until the report is given to the public by the proper authorities at Washington. I shall go to Washington to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock."

Mr. Calhoun said that he had been treated courteously while in Cuba by all those with whom he came in contact. His visit was a very pleasant one, but owing to the bad weather which prevailed during his stay he was unable to visit the interior.

Mr. George W. Fishback, who is Mr. Calhoun's secretary, was reticent when spoken to in reference to his trip, but he made one significant statement: "We did not go within the insurgent lines, but all the insurgents, however, are not within the lines."

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Mr. Calhoun, the special counsel for the United States in the Ruiz case, is expected here to-morrow. In view of the fact that the President leaves Washington the day following for Nashville, it is possible that Mr. Calhoun will be invited to accompany the President on the special train a part of the way at least, in order to afford opportunity to make a verbal report upon the results of his visit to Cuba. There is no expectation at the State Department that any immediate results will follow Mr. Calhoun's return, for the preparation of his report (if it is deemed best to put his observations on paper subject to a Congressional call) will probably consume some time.

Ex-Congressman Frank Aldrich, of Chicago, is in the city. His purpose in visiting Washington at this time is to consult with Special Commissioner Calhoun respecting affairs in the island of Cuba. While Mr. Aldrich declines to commit himself in any way it is confidently believed by his friends that he has been selected by President McKinley for the office of Consul General of Cuba, and that he will relieve General Lee before long.

TARIFF BILL DEBATE.

A BREEZY DISCUSSION ON THE LUMBER PARAGRAPH.

The Sugar Schedule Reached—Tobacco Schedule to Be Considered To-day—Unimportant Proceedings in the House of Representatives.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The Senate to-day disposed of the lumber paragraph, which has been more stubbornly contested than any feature of the bill thus far, by defeating the motion of Senator Vest to place white pine on the free list—yeas, 20; nays, 38. The contest was mainly significant in breaking party lines which have been maintained with few exceptions during the early stages of the debate. On the final vote eight Democratic Senators voted against Mr. Vest's proposition, namely, Messrs. Bacon and Clay, of Georgia; McEnery, of Louisiana; McLaurin and Tillman, of South Carolina; Martin, of Virginia, Rawlins, of Utah and White. On the other haud, Mr. Carter, Republican, and Messrs. Cannon and Mantle, Silver Republicans, voted for the Vest motion. Following this a vote to substitute the Wilson lumber schedule was defeated, 31—37, and the schedule was agreed to as reported.

The debate preceding the vote was at times very breezy, owing to the break of political lines.

The consideration of the Tariff bill was resumed soon after the session opened and the discussion proceeded on the paragraph placing a duty of $2 per 1,000 feet on lumber. Senator Allen, of Nebraska, Populist, moved to substitute the provisions of the Wilson bill which placed lumber on the free list. The Senator spoke in particular against restoring white pine to the dutiable list, urging that the rates were designed to be prohibitory against Canadian pine. There was nothing, he said, in the "clap trap argument" of American high wages, as the wages of lumbermen in Canada were on the whole higher than in the United States.

Senator Berry, of Arkansas, spoke against restoring the duty on white pine. He had been appealed to by the lumber interests of his own State to support the duty, but he could not do it when it laid such heavy tribute on the agricultural people of the Western States.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, who is supporting the lumber duty, reminded Senator Berry that his (Bacon's) support was due to the fact that the duty was a revenue rather than a protective rate. Senator Berry responded with a vehement arraignment of the bill, framed, he said, in the interest of every trust and combination in the country.

Senator Caffery, of Louisiana, opposed the duty on white pine and incidentally criticised the position of Senator Bacon, of Georgia, who, he said, favored a protective duty. This the Senator from Georgia denied.

Senator Caffery announced his opposition to all protective duties. He favored the imposition of pure revenue duties.

"The platform I stand on," interposed Senator Bacon," the orthodoxy of which the Senator from Louisiana may not subscribe to (Senator Caffery supported the Indianapolis gold ticket), warrants my position. The Chicago platform said, 'We favor a tariff for revenue with duties so adjusted as to operate equally throughout the country and not discriminate as to class or section.' It is that plank in the platform upon which I stand."

Senator Caffery said there might be a discrepancy between the Chicago and Indianapolis platforms, but the essence of Democracy was opposed to a tariff on raw materials because such a tariff necessarily required compensatory duties on manufactured articles.

"My position," said Senator Bacon, "is that if the duties are to be levied on manufactured articles for revenue purposes, they should be levied also on raw materials—that no favors should be shown."

After Senator Caffery had made the statement that he had no apology to make for his vote on the Wilson bill, the debate became desultory. Senator Allen, of Nebraska, touched briefly on the subject of duty on hides, and then inveighed against the lumber duties in the bill, which he said would be particularly oppressive to the people of Nebraska, who were the victims of the Lumber Trust.

Senator Jones of Arkansas, characterized as absurd the claim that this country was being 'flooded" by foreign manufacturers of lumber in the face of the fact that but $7,500,000 worth of lumber was imported last year against $540,000,000 consumed.

Senator Spooner called attention to the remarkable nature of Senator Vest's amendment, which proposed to exclude white pine from the general duty of $2.00 on timber. Why should the lumber interests of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin be dealt this blow.

Senator Vest disclaimed any intention of discriminating.

Senator Pritchard, of North Carolina, called Senator Spooner's attention to the existence of white pine in Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee.

Senator Gray said he wanted to equalize the conditions of the consumers, and said it was an exercise of the despotism of wealth if people along the northern tier of States were to be stayed and prevented from crossing the imaginary line which separated them from Canada.

Senator Hale remarked that Senator Gray was talking like a free trader. The latter accepted the term. He said he had no prejudice against the word "free" or the word "freedom."

"Why do you draw the line at the free coinage of silver?" asked Senator Tillman. The Senate and galleries roared.

"The protection Senator from South Carolina takes up the sword of the Senator from Nevada (Stewart) during his absence," replied Senator Gray. "Free silver, like the flowers that bloom in the spring, has nothing to do with the case."

After further debate, Senator Vest's amendment to except white pine lumber from the $2 rate was lost.

When the sugar schedule was reached, Senator Allison stated that it was possible that some amendments might be made to it so that he thought it would be inexpedient to go on with it to-morrow. It was the purpose of the committee, however, to have that schedule considered as early as possible. If any changes were made they would be postponed in open Senate and after that sufficient time would be given gentlemen on the other side to consider them. The tobacco schedule will be considered to-morrow.

In response to inquiries by Senator Cannon, Senator Allison stated that the committee probably would return to the sugar schedule and dispose of it ahead of the other schedules, as Senators desired to have it out of the way.

At 5.30 p. m. the Senate held a brief executive session and at 5.45 p. m. adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Bailey, of Texas, Democrat, the minority leader, was in his seat when the House met to-day for the first time in a fortnight.

After the passage of the Senate bills authorizing the construction of bridges, Mr Grosvenor, of Ohio, moved an adjournment.

"As long as the Cuban resolution and the Bankruptcy bill are undisposed of," interrupted Mr. Bailey before the vote was taken, "we feel constrained to resist these motions to adjourn."

The opposition scored its first victory this session when, on a rising vote, the motion to adjourn was defeated—79 to 80. The opposition cheered the announcement. Mr. Grosvenor immediately demanded the yeas and nays, which were ordered.

The roll call reversed the previous vote and the motion to adjourn was carried—91 to 79—present and not voting 11.

Mr. Terry made the point of no quorum, and the further point that the House could not adjourn for more than one day without a quorum. The Speaker declined to hear him, calling attention to the fact that with those present and not voting a quorum was present. He then announced the House adjourned until Thursday.

DELUGE OE WATER.

Desolation Wrought by a Cloud-Burst in France—Great Destruction of Property and Loss of Life.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

PARIS, June 7.—The later details from Grenoble, in the department of Isere, show that the desolation wrought by the cloud-burst, which caused the river Morge to overflow its banks, is far more extended than was at first supposed. The deluge of water caused enormous land-slides of trees and sand from the mountains into the valley, overwhelming houses, burying cattle and destroying other property. In many villages the fleeing inhabitants left everything behind them.

Almost all the riverside factories were destroyed and no fewer than 500 workshops were wrecked. The town of Voiron presents a lamentable appearance. All the bridges are gone and the streets are filled with masses of debris washed out from the factories and shops, bales of cloth, rolls of silk and similar manufactured products, while the roads of the town and the district round about are simply impassable and choked with rocks and fallen trees or gullied with great wash-outs.

Voiron is without gas, as the gas works have been destroyed.

Many of the principal merchants are absolutely ruined and thousands of workmen are not only without employment but without shelter. So sudden was the onrush of the waters that hundreds barely escaped with their lives. In very many of the cafes and shops the occupants were up to their shoulders in water before they knew what had happened. It is reported that a family of six perished, but thus far only two bodies have been found. Numerous stories are told of heroic rescues.

Along the whole valley the crops are completely destroyed and the farms themselves are all more or less damaged. As the waters slowly subside they leave behind great stretches of mud, in which the soldiers, aided by the inhabitants, are working ceaselessly at cutting channels to allow the waters gathered in hollows to return to the river. The municipal authorities have decided to blow up the dam at Castellon to facilitate the escape of the water, which is still three feet deep in many houses, especially at Moairens, where buildings are constantly collapsing.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

Important Meeting to Be Held in Chicago To-day.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, June 7.—A meeting of considerable import to the advocates of free silver who were formerly identified with the Republican party, is to held here to-morrow, when the national provisional committee of the silver Republicans will be called to order at the Leland Hotel. It is expected that at least thirty-two States will be represented.

Among the more prominent members who have already arrived are ex-Senator Dubois, of Idaho; Senator Mantle, Montana; Congressmen Hartman, Montana; Jones, Washington; Shafroth, Colorado; A. M. Stevenson, Judge Peter M. Palmer, Samel Belford, Colorado; J. G. Peck, Oklahoma; G. S. Prettyman, Jr., Delaware, and P. J. Vanvoorhis, Indiana. Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, was here, but left to-night for Washington. It is understood that Senator Teller will be offered the chairmanship of the meeting to-morrow. Congressman Hartman said to-day:

"We want it distinctly understood that the organization of the silver Republican party will not be antagonistic to any of the organizations that endorse the free coinage of silver, but that we will make war with them on the common foe, the Republican party standing for the gold standard."

The National Provisional Committee will decide upon a plan for a permanent national organization, calling a national convention for that purpose. It is given out as the intention to organize thoroughly from the voting precincts up, with the view of electing Congressmen where possible in 1898, and also of taking an active part in the next Presidential campaign.

MASTER CAR BUILDERS.

Annual Convention of the National Association to Convene To-day.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 7.—The annual convention of the master car builders association of the United States will convene to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock at Old Point Comfort. The delegates have been arriving from from all parts of the United States during the day and nearly 1,000 are already present. Many are accompanied by their wives. Governor Charles T. O. Farrell will be present at the opening session, as will also President M. E. Ingalls, of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and other distinguished men.

The entire plant of the Standard Oil works in Cleveland Ohio, has shut down for an indefinite period. It is said that the Standard has an immense stock on hand, enough to supply all demands in this district until January 1st, 1898 or longer.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT THE A. & M. COLLEGE.

Dr. Hoge Delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon—Southern Railway's Demands—Republican Pie-Hunters—New Officers for the Department of Agriculture.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C. June 7.

A large number of physicians were here yesterday and to-day, en route to Morehead to attend the annual convention of the State Medical Society. The examination of applicants for license to practice medicine takes place to-day.

The commencement exercises at the A. & M. College began last evening with the baccalaureate sermon, which was delivered by Dr. Hoge. The class exercises occur to-night.

The Southern Railway has made demand upon Superintendent John R. Smith for one hundred feet of the grounds of the Penitentiary. The Southern's main track runs immediately in front of the stockade, and according to a recent decision of the Supreme Court, the railroad is entitled to this amount of land on either side of its track. The railroad needs the land on which to run sidings. The Penitentiary, which is already too small, is greatly crowded and Superintendent Smith says he will not comply with the railroad's wishes. A suit will probably result.

Mr. J B Hill, ex marshal of this district, and James Young have returned from Washington. Mr Hill learned definitely, while absent, that H. C. Dockery would be appointed marshal. James Young received the definite information that he was not to be Raleigh's postmaster. Jim says he called on the President and spent fifteen minutes in conversation with him, though the postoffice, he says, was not mentioned.

Jim Young says that Marshal Carroll is to be removed from office right away, possibly this week, and that Dockery will be appointed. Charges have been preferred against Marshal Carroll, and Young says he understands that the department has decided to remove Mr. Carroll.

The new officers in the Department of Agriculture will take hold next Monday. All the new officers have received notice to be present on that day.

A negro woman at the penitentiary who is serving a lengthy sentence gave birth to a child Saturday. The child is nearly white. The woman has been confined at Northampton farm for several years, and was brought to Raleigh a month ago. This is not the first instance of a child being born in the penitentiary. The authorities will keep it, if it lives, until it is four years of age.

STEAMER THREE FRIENDS

U. S Court Decision—The Libel for Forfeiture Dismissed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., June 7.—In the United States Court Judge Locke handed down a decision in the case of the Three Friends, charged with violating the neutrality laws by carrying a filibustering expedition to Cuba, and also as an armed vessel, dismissing the libel for forfeiture. In giving the decision Judge Locke said: The Court in examining the evidence in this case fails to find any testimony showing that the vessel was fitted out and armed within the limits of the United States. It does not show that she was loaded with arms and ammunition within fifteen or twenty miles of the shore. The further charge that the vessel took on additional arms or ammunition on the island of Navassa, which is American soil, was not confirmed by the testimony. It shows that the vessel touched there for a short time, but it does not show that it did anything that is in violation of the neutrality laws of this country."

Three other cases are pending against the vessel, but they are likely to be dismissed, as the evidence is much the same as in the present case. The district attorney will wait advices from Washington as to what future action to take.

ILLINOIS ELECTIONS.

A Light Vote—Democratic Gains—Republicans Carried a Majority of the Districts.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Judicial elections were held throughout Illinois to-day. Returns up to midnight indicate that the Republicans have carried twelve of the seventeen districts. Democratic gains were registered in a number of cases. The vote cast was, as a rule, extremely light and but little interest was manifested outside of Cook county.

The effect of the recent ruling of the Postoffice Department to consider as vacant offices which are due to expire between now and July 12th was apparent yesterday when 158 fourth class postmasters were appointed.

Sale of Valuable Land

ON SATURDAY, JUNE 5TH, 1897, AT 12 o'clock M., at the Court House door in the city of Wilmington, the undersigned will sell at public auction, for cash, a tract of land containing about 300 acres, lying in Hickory Point Township, Pender county, on the west side of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, and adjoining the lands of James B. Bordeaux, Mrs. Armstrong, and others, being the same which was conveyed to me by W. W. Alderman, sheriff, by deed recorded in Book "S," page 235 of Pender county records.

A. G. RICAUD, Receiver First National Bank.
